A total of $140.50 is the contribution fund and their contributions are being

OBITUARY.

The Late Charles A. May (Contributed)

A neighbor and friend pays the following tribute to a man for years familiar figure in and about Norwich.

Charles A. May, who died recently at his home in Yantic, is greatly mis-sessed and deeply mourned by many friends. Mr. May was born in New London March 26, 1843, the son of George A. May and was born in East Hartford and Ellen Daniels, a native of New London. Later on the elder Mays moved to Franklin and then to Norwich. Mr. May was in business and both died there.

At the age of 14 Charles A.
May began to follow the sea and he went abroad the world three times.

and visited many noted localities. His father had been a sea captain and he inherited a love for the water. Charles May was on a whaling ship in the vicinity of the West Indies when the Civil War was raging and the ship was captured and sunk by the famous Confederate raider Alabama, that preyed upon the ships of the northern states for two years. Mr. May and the rest of the crew were transferred to another ship and later were landed in England. Mr. May was sent home by the American consul in London.
Mr. May could talk interestingly of his seafaring life.

When 21 he left the sea and helped his father on a big farm in Franklin for a time. For 22 years Mr. May worked in the mounting room of the old Richmond Store Company's plant.
Afterwards for 22 years he lived in a comfortable home in Yantic and was around selling medicines that he compounded.

In Norwich December 24, 1916, Mr.
May married Jennie M. Perkins. Rev.
R. K. Ashley performing the ceremony.
Mrs. May survives her husband and there are two children, Mrs. Samuel C.
Wilson of 183 Broad street, Norwich, and Frank W. May in Springfield.
There are six grandchildren. A nephew, George Goss, lives in Providence. Mr. May is the last of a family of five children.

Mr. May was a faithful member of the Central Baptist church and longed to Shtuckett lodge, I. O. O. F., and had been its chaplain for three years.
He also belonged to Hope Rebe-lah lodge.
